JUSTUS GOEBEL

AGAIN INDICTED.

Accused of Extorting Money From a Clerk by Threats.

On Saturday afternoon the grand jury in the Kenton Circuit Court returned an indictment against Justus Goebel on the charge of extorting from A. J. Lansdowne money by threats.

The specific charge is that Lansdowne was a clerk in the waterworks department of Covington, and that Justus Goebel did unlawfully, viciously and corruptly extort and received from him $10 per month, beginning in June, 1898, and continuing until May, 1900, a period of twenty-three months, and that the sum demanded and received by Goebel from Lansdowne aggregated $230. It is further alleged that Goebel stated to Lansdowne that unless the latter paid him $10 per month he would be removed from his position, Goebel stating that he had influence with the commissioners of the waterworks sufficient to have him removed.

It is alleged in the indictment that Lansdowne believed Goebel and paid him the money accordingly. The witnesses on which the indictment was found are A. J. Lansdowne, himself, and Ash C. Wood, another clerk in the waterworks department.

Judge Tarvin immediately directed a bench warrant to be issued for Goebel, and fixed his bond at $300.

Mr. editor—I come at your people down in the Settlement Again. my objee in disturbing you so Often is to impress upon your minds that i am no sardene if i do live in the mountains among rattlesnaks and bull frogs. I can't see that there is eny grate difference in us as far as our frames is consarned but as to our egication and stile of harnes you may think you hav the best of us as far as that gose. Still we feel as proud of our layouts as you folks do of yours. as far as i can see i think one man as good as another and a ding site better.

But as to the wimin folks I beleave Parthena knocks the Sox off all the rest, though that might be all a notion jest in my case. i love her so. Well, I cant finde but one falt in Parthena and that is she is a little too mutch pigin toed. She was chasin a rabbit down goose neck Sunday and her big toe on the left foot struck her right shin jest abov the ankle and cut a big gash she liked to bled to deth befor if ound her. She never lets her big toe nails grow out from the end of the toe over a half inch befor she whacks them off again.

Wee hav a big meetin goin on up here now an the folkses is a joinin the church rite along from 10 to 15 every service. We are wanting a moonshine preacher. Are you acqainted with a Bible explorer by the name of dean lee? he is the man we want in 'his country. I am told he ses that there is no harm in shaking the mud hooks in a bal room and further more if a feller feels like going into a Saloon and taking a drink of calamity water is all so harmless. If we had sutch a preacher as him up here i think he would soon clean up this neck of the woods. tel him to come up here and Bring his Summer Bible with him wee wont have to make mutch of a chang from our present habits to reach the happy land in his boat. I cant finde eny falt in a man like that i agree with him al along the line. i cant see any harm in a game of draw poker if i win the stuff ever time. The only place i can see harne in bug juice is when it is corked up in Barriels and bottles it is liable to xplode and ruin both barriels and bottles.

come rite this way Brother dean and be with your kind of people. you can make ded lodes of stuff up here with that moonshine doctoring bring that Summer bible with you so wee can prove things as we go along. Its a long road that has no turn and one awful turn that has no road.

Arrested on Suspicion.

Thursday a young fellow came to town, acted suspiciously, told conflicting stories, sold a horse for half value and was arrested by Chief of Police Wilson. He said, after giving different names of himself, that he is Harvey Cocherham, a son of James Cocherham, a former hotel man, of Campton, and has a brother in Shelby county by the name of A. C. Cocherham. The horse he sold he said belonged to his aunt, Mrs. Ann Kinkad, and that she had authorized him to sell the horse. The sale was made to a Mr. Swope, a horse dealer of this county, for $32.50. The check he brought to the city with him and offered to dispose of it for $30. The conflicting stories, going by different names, selling the horse for half value and then proposing to discount the check for $2.50 when he could get the money on it by having Mr. Swope to identify him, was so suspicious that it led to his arrest. After arrest he was taken to the County Court room and as soon as an opportunity offered he sprang from a ten foot window and undertook to escape, but officers with guns were too much and after a swift chase was rearrested and jailed. The young man is nearing 21 years and had a gun which he laid on the table while the Chief of Police was looking in another direction. Information has been received that the young man stole his aunt's horse and hence was held to answer to the Circuit Court.
